Who's Who in Professional Services

Trusted legal, accounting professionals in an era of dynamic economic change

Our 2011 edition of Who's Who in Professional Services reminds us just how dynamic the once-staid world of law and accounting has become.

As the only comprehensive look at the professionals who advise tri-county companies, Who's Who in Professional Services is a must-read for anyone trying to start a business, run a business or acquire a company in the region.

But this year's effort comes with its own twist — the shifting tides of the economy have brought many changes to the ranks of law firms and CPA firms. That means this year's update is filled with new information about the movers and shakers in these very important industries.

The dynamic nature of entrepreneurship in our region means that our legal and accounting professionals regularly appear in the top ranks of their statewide or national peers.

To put together this section, we use the Business Times' Top 25 lists to contact the region's top firms. We also solicit nominations from the public.

As in past years, to qualify, an attorney or CPA must have their principal office or place of business within the Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo County region. A qualified candidate also must offer his or her services to a range of clients — we did not consider nominees who are employed as a CFO or general counsel at a single organization.

HENRY DUBROFF
Editor

We select Who's Who candidates based on the quality and quantity of their effort advising clients and we also factor in community outreach efforts and pro bono work.

The section would not be possible without the support of our sponsor, Bartlett, Pringle & Wolf. The section was organized and produced by Special Reports Editor Jim Logan and the cover was produced by Advertising Graphic Designer Elizabeth Nadel.

Our next special report is Champions in Health Care, an exciting new project that makes its debut on May 20.

As always, your comments and suggestions are welcome at hdubroff@pacbiztimes.com.
